Professional Strengths

David is an operations specialist and systems developer in Ruck-Shockey Associates, Inc., an S-Corporation formed in 1997. David's strength in annualizing facility deficiencies and questioning internal customers allows him to quickly develop approaches and plans for scheduled services and service requests. David credits his ability in having consistently performed nearly every possible cleaning task growing up in healthcare and a career spanning over 40 years.

David provides extensive experience and successful outcomes within housekeeping, laundry and waste operations. David's key factors to success are systematic employee routines, staff education, terminal cleaning, scheduled floor care and routine follow up. David comes on staff and works cooperatively with nursing, department directors, managers and front-line employees. David quickly starts an evaluation process to review EVS strengths and weaknesses. While making daily rounds, computer generated inspections are compiled and quickly shared with the applicable supervisors to start addressing deficiencies.

David strives for a high level of Infection Control and TJC preparedness. David also reviews your current staffing, equipment, budgetary compliance, and the obstacles that hinder EVS performance and then makes the tough recommendations.
